SCHREIBER, ON – Superior North Catholic District School Board (SNCD SB) is being recognized for its innovative approach to tech-education following a very important first in North America. Last month, the SNCD SB hosted a Student Summit featuring Google and facilitated by the Ed Tech Team (visit www.edtechteam.com/summit). About 100 student-leaders, from each of the board's 11 schools, attended the all-day event which introduced students to Google Apps for Education helping to deepen their learning and equip them with skills to make the most of technology being used not only within their own schools, but by educational institutions (k-12 and higher education) around the globe. The Ed-Tech Team Global summits featuring Google for Education have, until now, been organized for educators however, following the success of SNCD SB's student summit it is hoped other school boards will be inspired to host Student Summits featuring Google for Education.

OntarioNewsNorth.com spoke with 4 participating students from grades 5-8 who shared their perspective regarding what they learned, how they felt about this important 1st, how they think their new knowledge will serve them in the future, etc.; watch the video at www.youtube.com/OntarioNewsNorth

FIRST NATION'S SIGNAGE WELCOMES VISITORS WITH IMPORTANT REMINDER

"A Band Council resolution has been implemented at the request of community members and members of council to secure and protect our sacred lands" explained Louis Kwissiwa, Member PMFN, adding "It's all about respect for our traditional lands."

Kwissiwa, who blogs regularly on Facebook, was disappointed in September to find garbage left at the Pow Wow grounds. He had posted photos of the litter with a message reminding those who would use the land to recognize its importance. "We have beautiful and sacred Pow Wow grounds here in Netomisakimik First Nation and it's our duty as Anishinaabe of the land to respect and keep our traditional lands clean. One of the 7 sacred Grandfather Teachings passed down to the Anishinaabe from Gichi Manitou (Creator) was the teaching of respect. One of the ways that we, as Anishinaabe people, can utilize this teaching is by respecting the land which has been gifted to us by Creator" explained Kwissiwa.

His post continued with a respectful acknowledgement of those who sacrificed to protect the land, explaining also that Anishinaabe people 'are the land'. Kwissiwa ends the blog with a reminder to all who enjoy the land "Let us respect the land and honour our ancestors by living that good way of life by keeping our land clean."
